

Children's Literature That Teaches Music

Florida Music Educators Association
January 2024

Jennifer Donovan
Platte City, MO
jenniferdonovan71@gmail.com

These notes are for the use of workshop participants only and for use with children.
They may not be duplicated or distributed without the permission of the clinician.

The Good Egg (Imitation)

By Jory John and Pete Oswald

The Good egg:

I'm a good egg, a good egg, and let me tell you why.

I'm a thinker and a leader and a really good guy.

Arr. J Donovan

The Bad seed:

I'm a bad seed, a bad seed, and I don't even care.

I'm a starrer and a glarer, talk to me if you dare.

In small groups, explore how students can adapt The Good Egg melody to The Bad Seed and find a different tonal center while keeping instruments in C pentatonic.

2